The Company have procured the services of the most experienced Pilots and Watchmen at most of the Lake ports, whose Pilots will be carried by Dr. K. Trapnier, they will be under the immediate supervision of the Commander, and in all respects considered the safest, most reliable and expeditious line now upon the Western waters.

For the transportation of Freight, the Line will possess many advantages over others offered to the public. It owns warehouses in the principal ports between Buffalo and New York, and will continue to give its attention to the forwarding of goods and merchandise with great care.

For the transportation of live stock these steamers offer facilities to drovers which cannot be surpassed or equaled. 300 pens of sufficient size for the accommodation of from two to three hundred head of cattle, with troughs to supply them with water, are built upon the Propeller Wisconsin, and other boats will be furnished with pens as fast as they can be built.

Every exertion will be used on the part of the Company to secure the safety of passengers and freight, and to render the trip pleasant and agreeable, affording them the cheapest, safest and quickest route between the Eastern cities and the principal cities of Lake Michigan.

Connections of this Line will be in connection at Buffalo with the

NEW YORK CENTRAL RAILROAD,

Troy and Western Line of Canal Boats, On the Erie Canal; at Cleveland with the Cleveland, Pittsburgh and Wheeling Railroad, furnishing each of these companies by steady connections with the Lake Shore Line, the cheapest and quickest route for the transportation of passengers.

CITY OF CHICAGO.

Railroad Consolidation.

In a private letter from W. B. Ogden, Esq., President of the Chicago, St. Paul and Fond du Lac Railroad, to a gentleman in this city, dated Cleveland, March 22d, it is stated that a consolidation has been effected of the above road with the Marquette and State Line Road—thus making a continuous line, under the control of one company, from Chicago to Lake Superior. We need not point out to our readers the great importance of this arrangement to this city, nor the certainty with which Chicago may now depend upon a railroad connection with the copper districts of the North, hereafter to contribute so greatly to her prosperity. The terms of the consolidation, and the time fixed for the completion of this great work, we have yet to learn.

The California Appointments.

It is suggested by a friend who is well acquainted with the local politics of California, that the Federal appointments in that State are of such a character that Baconsnic, the newly elected Senator, will be compelled to take ground against the Administration. These appointments are, without exception, made from the ultra chivalrous school, to which Broderick has heretofore been and is yet violently opposed. It is believed that his opinions favor free soil, and that he has been heretofore deterred from cooperating openly with those whose views are identical with his own, only by his confidence in the free-soil tendencies of Mr. Buchanan's administration—confidence which this decided Pro-slavery outlay, from the President himself, will utterly destroy.

Would Slavery go to Kansas?

All well informed and impartial men agree, that the soil and climate of Kansas are unfavorable to the existence of slavery, and that unless the operation of natural causes is thwarted, the institution can never obtain a permanent foothold there.—Pitts. Chronicle.

This is all nonsense. Slavery will go wherever it is not interdicted by law. The soil and climate of Missouri are just as favorable to the existence of Slavery as the soil and climate of Missouri, Kentucky, Tennessee, Virginia, Maryland, and Delaware. Slaves would be sold in Pittsburg, Chicago or Boston, if the laws of Pennsylvania, Illinois or Massachusetts allowed it. We readily grant that the number of slaves would not be so large in Kansas in proportion to the whites, as in Alabama or the other cotton growing states; but large enough, if slavery should enter and root itself into the soil, to cast its deadly shadows over that land, to poison and degrade Free labor and paralyse and prostrate Northern enterprise. There is no safety or security, save in its utter outlawry.

Commercial Items.

The New York Evening Post, of Monday, says that the "small entries of imported goods for consumption during all last week, have reduced the weekly receipts of custom duties considerably. This, setting in unison with the active exports of cotton, reducing the rates of foreign exchange below the point at which gold can be exported in the ordinary way of a profit, keeps the money market easy, though the activity of business is such as to sustain an active and profitable demand for money. The banks while not losing their deposits, do not think of contracting, and the supply of money is therefore equal to all healthy demand. Mere speculative objects do not find much countenance, and the dealings in the securities of undeveloped undertakings are very few."

The imports of merchandise at this port last week amounted to $1,337,442, and since the 1st of January $5,857,089. The exports were $1,206,324 for the week, and $15,314,619 since the 1st of January.

The exports of specie last week were $415,053, of which $10,000 was in doubloons and other Spanish coin.

Investments in Wild Lands.

The Cincinnati Gazette does not like the fact of the enormous emigration from Ohio westward; and it is mildly endeavoring to stem the tide by showing that, for purposes of farming, the lands at that State offer better inducements than the wild lands of Iowa and Minnesota. It says:

There is another check to emigration which is rapidly coming. This is, that as prices rise, the lands of the States West will be found not so much the cheapest, relatively. There is more speculation to be had in Ohio lands at present prices, than in those of Iowa. In Ohio there is plenty of money, north, north-east, north-west, south, east and west, thus lands be found in any other States. The result is, that emigration from this State will soon cease, for the reason that it lacks the principle of profitable investment.

If the above is true of Ohio, what shall we say for Illinois, that has equal facilities for access to market, and that has still superior to that of which Ohio can boast, upon which the valuation is 50 to 75 per cent less than the ruling prices in our sister State? If the Gazette opinion is correct, why not induce its readers to invest in Illinois?

Free State Ticket in St. Louis.

The Emancipation party in St. Louis have put up a strong ticket for Municipal offices, a portion of which is the following, nominated by acclamation:

For Mayor—John M. Wimer.
For Comptroller—John Whittemore.
For Collector—John T. Harris.
For Assessor—James Watson.
For Treasurer—Chas. W. Gottschalk.

The Democrat says the Convention was large, harmonious and confident of victory. Among other resolutions passed, were these:

Whereas, The presidency can be made a tool, and has been made a means, by their owners in the last session of the legislature, to thwart the agitation of the slavery question, and to prevent the discussion of it by the people; and, whereas, the democracy of this city deem this a fit opportunity to declare their position, in regard to this question, therefore, be it

Resolved, That we heartily endorse the course of our delegation in the late session of the legislature.

Resolved, That the gradual emancipation of slavery in the State of Missouri is the duty of the people of this State; that we deem the discussion of this question by the people of this State, and the expression of the people in their votes, the only means by which the Legislature can be instructed as to its duties, as an attempt to gag the free expression of opinion upon the freedom of speech and of the press.

Resolved, That the members of this State present themselves to the people for their votes, upon the platform of principles laid down by the Democratic party, and that we will support no man for the Legislature who will not pledge himself to vote for the election of a United States Senator who will support the principles of the Democratic party.
